DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNICATION STRATEGY AND DESIGN OF COMMUNICATION MATERIALS

1. Background

In the last decade, Bihar has made impressive improvements in human development outcomes in terms of access to schooling and health. Despite the impressive growth, the share of the rural population living below the poverty line witnessed little change from 55.7% in 2004-05 to 55.3% (approximately 54 million) in 2009-10. Certain groups including persons with disabilities (PWDs), older persons and widows, are especially vulnerable to economic shocks and rising living costs. These groups are likely to experience multiple deprivations on account of poor support systems, rising health expenditures, and declining incomes.

Social protection (SP) spending is fairly high in Bihar (INR 62.04 billion in 2010-11) and there are several programs in place to meet the needs of the poor and vulnerable. The three main social assistance programs include (i) Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS) - a rights-based, demand-driven public works program that guarantees all rural households up to 100 days annually of unskilled public works employment on demand; (ii) Indira Awaas Yojana (IAY) - cash transfers to poor rural households for building houses; and (iii) Social pensions - cash transfers for older persons, widows and persons with disabilities.

The Rural Development Department (RDD) of Bihar, implements MGNREGS and IAY as well as the Below Poverty Line (BPL) list, which is used across several SP programs to identify poor households in rural areas.

The Bihar Integrated Social Protection Strengthening Project will be implemented in Bihar with support from the World Bank with the objective of strengthening institutional capacity of the Department of Social Welfare and the Rural Development Department to deliver social protection programs and services and expand outreach of social care services for poor and vulnerable households, persons with disabilities, older persons and widows in the state. The project will be implemented over a period of six years (2014-2020) and will systematically strengthen institutions for improved and expanded service provision for social protection programs and services, including the programs administered by the Rural Development Department, thus supporting the Government of Bihar's core agenda of promoting better governance and service delivery in the state.

2. Objective

BRDS seeks to hire an agency to support it in developing and deploying an informed, targeted communication strategy and plan of action to:

- enhance clarity within the RDD administration regarding goals, standard operating procedures, roles, responsibilities, authority, and service standards for efficient and effective deployment of RDD schemes and entitlements;
- increase awareness and information available to citizens of Bihar, especially the vulnerable groups comprising rural poor, women and scheduled castes/scheduled tribes on major entitlements and schemes of the Rural Development Department;
- motivate vulnerable groups to enroll in RDD entitlements and schemes and avail benefits.

3. Scope of work

The first area of work involves formative research to develop a comprehensive communications strategy for the project. This will involve the following tasks:

- Desk review of existing Information, Education and Communication materials relevant to social protection programs available in the India/Bihar, including materials which may have been developed/used by the Department of Rural Development;
- Reviewing available information (reports/studies/assessments/impact evaluations) on the effectiveness/efficiency/impact of IEC materials developed and deployed for social protection programs;
- Undertaking a participatory communications needs assessment with various stakeholders including vulnerable groups in Bihar (including rural poor, women and scheduled castes/scheduled tribes), Rural Development Department, NGO's/CBOs, Panchayati Raj Institution members etc.;
- Developing a two pronged communication strategy with the objective of (i) increasing awareness and information available to citizens of Bihar on major entitlements and schemes of the Rural Development Department, and (ii) enhancing clarity within the RDD administration regarding goals, standard operating procedures, roles, responsibilities, authority, and service standards for efficient and effective deployment of RDD schemes;
- Developing a comprehensive detailed communication plan, leveraging interpersonal, print and electronic media interactions towards implementation of the communication strategy;

The second area of work involves designing and pre-testing of communication materials in support of the communication strategy. These materials will leverage interpersonal, print, and electronic interactions and will include:

- Materials for use at BRDS;
- Materials for use at community level;

Electronic versions of all materials will be refined and finalized based on the pre-test and submitted to BRDS in a format which will allow for easy reproduction.

The third area of work involves facilitating development of communication materials and their deployment as per the detailed communication plan

The fourth area of work involves building capacity of BRDS to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the communication strategy in educating target groups on RDD entitlement and schemes. Towards this objective, the agency will develop:

- Develop indicators and identify mechanisms for monitoring and evaluating the communications plan;
- Support BRDS in establishing reporting and monitoring mechanisms for reviewing performance of the communications plan.

The fifth area of work involves maintenance and management of a repository of communications materials developed for social protection programs deployed in the state of Bihar.

Overall, the agency should coordinate closely with BRDS, district and block RDD / BRDS apparatus to ensure the relevance, feasibility and acceptability of deliverables.

4. Period of Consultancy:
